WANTON ATTACK ON TWO WORKMEN

Kansas City Ironworkers Set Upon by Mob of Union

LURED FROM THEIR ROOMS.

Telephone Message Used as a Decoy To Put Them in the Hands Of the Sluggers.

A wanton, brutal attack made upon two strikebreakers by over 20 men, supposed to have been union men and their sympathizers, on Saturday night marked what was presumed to have been an amicable settlement of the difficulties between the local union of structural ironworkers and the Minneapolis Steel & Machinery company.

The victims of the assault were Earl S. Garling and Albert Peck, both of Kansas City, and who were brought here by the steel company to work on the Commercial club building.

After being lured from their rooms at the Savoy hotel about 10 o'clock at night by means of a decoy telephone message, asking them to go to the Dooly block, they were set upon at the corner of West Temple and Second South streets by a crowd of upwards of 20 men. Clubs, stones, brass knuckles and other weapons were used by the assailants, their number being so great that the yletims had no chance so great that the victims had no chance for defending themselves, and they were beaten unmercifully and left in an almost unconscious condition. police were notified, and the injured men were removed to the Emergency hospital, where Dr. F. B. Steele dressed the wounds.

MOB QUICKLY RUNS AWAY.

Before the police arrived in response to the call the mob had taken to their heels and scattered. A squad was sent out later in a search for the members of the gang, but falled to identify any of them.

The assault, which was premeditated, was of such a brutal, cowardly nature as to call out severe condemnation. Garling and Peck had been brought from Kansas City by the Minneapolis Steel & Machinery company to work on the Commercial club building, but when the labor differences on that building were settled Saturday by the withdrawal of the steel company and the recognition of the union, the two, with the other imported workers, were discharged and were to return to Kansas City.

charged and were to return to Kansas City.

This fact was used by their assailants, who decoyed them by use of the telephone message. When Garling was called to the telephone he was told that it was J. P. Chadron of the company speaking, and he was asked to bring Peck with him to the company's offices in the Dooly building. The men presumed that it was in regard to their transportation to Kansas City and had no hesitation in answering the sunfamons.

WARM COMMUNICATION ON RAILROAD RATES

Col. F. M. Sterrett Receives a Decidedly Tropical Letter from California G. A. R. Commander.

Col. F. M. Sterrett, executive director of the forty-third G. A. R. encampment, to be held in this city next August, has received a communication in regard to railroad rates to the encampment from California. The communication is dated at Los Angeles, Cal., June 13, 1909, and s as follows: "Dear Colonel-It would have given me great satisfaction to have aided you in adding to the success of this, prob-ably the last national encampment west of the Mississippi river, by bringing a large contingent from southern Call-fornia to swell the attendance, but the extortion practised by the Salt Lake railway (S. P. L. A. & S. L. Ry.) de-manding $30,000, has deadened all interest among the several thousand veter-ans here that you cannot depend on ans here that you cannot depend on any representation worth mentioning. Your last letter to me, stating that the effort would have to come from the department of California and Nevada, I have turned over to W. S. Daubenspeck and urged him to communicate with J. B. Stubbs, vice president and traffic manager of the Southern Pacific lines, whose office is at Chicago, and stated to Daubenspeck that I had reliable information that if he gave the word, the Salt Lake people would make an equally low rate with the Denver & Rio Grande, which is but $17.75, and only 40 miles less than from Los Angeles, and that the Salt Lake had the power to do this under the inter-state commerce law by filing the rate made power to do this under the inter-state commerce law by filing the rate made within 30 days of the sale of tickets, but I am informed today that the department instead of going to Stubbs went again to the Salt Lake road and was again turned down; they even refused to make a less rate than $30 to the Veteran Fife and Drum corps, and this very attractive feature of this department, consisting of 17 veterans of commander and his adjutant-general take their departure for the encampment. Had I been department commander here, I would have at least made the effort at the fountain head, and if held up there, would have publicly placed the Salt Lake & Southern Pacific combination on record before the people of the country that we made possible to exist. The great Harriman R. R. octopus intends to throttle the liberties they fought to perpetuate and personally, I would rather be called an anarchist than to meekly wear the collar of modern commercialism. Nearly two months yet remains, and yet I do not hope for any results being attained at this end of the line, but you might reach Stubbs with effect. Wishing you the success you so richy deserve, I remain yours very truly in F. C. & L. JOHN Q. A. WALKER.

KIMBALL FAMILY HONORS GREAT MAN

Today the descendants of Heber C Kimball are observing the birthday anniversary of their distinguished ancestor. One hundred and eight years ago Heber Chase Kimball was born, at Sheldon, Franklin county, Vermont. He was the son of Solomon F. Kimball, who came of old revolutionary stock. Young Heber moved with his father's family Heber moved with his father's family to West Bloomfield, Ontario county, New York, in 1811. When he was six years old he began to attend school, continuing until he was about 14 years of age. After passing through many experiences incident to the settlement of a new country, he pursued the potter's trade for some time, after moving to Mendon, Monroe county. In early life he received many invitations to join different religious sects, but did not unite himself with any until a revival in the neighborhood led him to ally himself with the Baptists. Soon after this in the neighborhood led him to ally himself with the Baptists. Soon after this occurrence, however, he heard the elegers of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints preach the gospel, and finally accepted it, and was baptized with his household.

The history of Heber C. Kimball tized with his household.

The history of Heber C. Kimball follows the early history of the Church, and he was prominently connected with all phases of it. He performed wonderful missionary work in Europe, passed through the persecutions in the eastern and central states, and was one of the historic company of 148 who entered this valley in 1847.

BISHOP TUTTLE HEARD IN ST. MARK'S PULPIT

This City, Preaches at Two Sunday Services.

Bishop Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church, preached at both services yesterday in St. Mark's cathedral. In the morning he spoke from the text, "Hold Fast the Traditions," in connection with which he said that Christian Science teaches wholesome truths in saying they are not the will of God, but only by His permission. The preacher suggested that this teaching of Christian Science is only taking us back to one of our first principles, the power and protection and loving care of the fatherhood of God. Crookednesses and wrongs come from human sin and selfishness and that Christian people, while they must bear a hand in correcting and ameliorating the wrongs, must not lose heart because they cannot stop these wrongs. God, the Holy Spirit himself, cannot put a stop to human sin and selfishness until human wills permit him to do so. Therefore Christians cheerfully and vigorously standing for the just and the fair, must not be discouraged if in spite of all their efforts, wrongs go on. They have simply to hold and promote belief in the "traditions" and the first principles, and then must to a certain degree, leave the mysteries of free will to outwork themselves. Bishop Tuttle's evening sermon was on missionary work, the text being, "Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

The speaker said in part: "I suppose all of you have read that book which became famous through the English speaking world a number of years ago, entitled, 'Dr Jekyl and Mr. Hydes,' We are all Dr. Jakyls and Mr. Hydes fighting for the meanness in our natures. To do the greatest missionary work in the world we should begin with ourthe Episcopal church, preached at both services yesterday in St. Mark's

The expenses of the society including the publishing of the Red Cross Bulletin have only been $30,-195.

JUST ONE A DAY

How the Coffee Drinker Compromises His Health.

Some people say: "Coffee don't hurt me" and then add: 'Anyway I only drink one cup a day."

If coffee really don't hurt why not drink more? There is but one answer and that is coffee does hurt them and they know it. When they drink it once a day they compromise with their enemy. There are people whom one cup of coffee a day will put in bed, if the labit is continued. habit is continued.

"Although warned by physicians to let coffee alone I have always been so fond of it that I continued to use it," confesses an Ohio lady. "I compromised with myself and drank just one cup every morning until about isx weeks

All the time I was drinking coffee I and the time I was drinking conee I had heart trouble that grew steadily worse and finally. I had such alarming sensations in my head (sometimes causing me to fall down) that I at last took. my doctor's advice and quit coffee and began to use Postum in its place,
"The results have been all that the doctor hoped, for I have not only lost my craving for coffee and enjoy my good Postum just as well, but my heart trouble has ceread and I have no more good Postum just as well, but my heart trouble has censed and I have no more dizzy spells in my head. WIFE FAILED TO APPEAR Although She Secured His Arrest in Idaho, She Was Not in Court.

When John A. Peterson, aged, grayhaired citizen of Salt Lake for more than 40 years, appeared in Judge Bow-than 40 years, appeared in Judge Bowman's court this morning, it was found that his wife was not ready to prosecute the charge which she had made against him and which had been the cause of his being brought back from Montpelier, Ida., in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Emery.

Peterson, a kindly, upright, staidlooking old man, is the father of five minor children, and is charged by his wife with having falled to support or provide for them. Whether or not the charge is true, the matter not having been gone into because of the plea of not guilty entered by the defendant, been gone into because of the plea of not guilty entered by the defendant, yet the few simple statements made by Peterson, the fact that neither the wife nor her witnesses were present and the views of the prosecution itself favored Mr. Peterson to the extent that although Asst. County Atty. Bowman suggested that the bond might be fixed at 15000 the defendant was released on at $200, the defendant was released on his own recognizance until his hearing set for June 22.

his own recognizance until his hearing set for June 22.

Short as it was, the case had its peculiar features this morning.

Peterson who is aged about 65 years is an itinerant tallor, traveling about Utah and Idaho, in the main business of teaching talloring. He was arrested at Montpeller, Ida., last week and brought back to Salt Lake on compaint filed by his wife charging him with fallure to support his five minor children, the oldest of whom is 16 years. This morning Asst. County Atty. Bowman, after Peterson had been arrainged and pleaded not guilty, informed the court that Mr. Peterson had shown him a list of figures that, if true, proved that Peterson had during the time alleged in the complaint, more than amply provided for his family. It was also suggested to the court by Mr. Bowman that the defedant had resided in the city for at least 41 years, and that he owns a home here which is occupied by his family. In performance of his duty, Asst. County Atty. Bowman asked a bond of $200 but when Judge Bowman after learning that the earliest date for hearing would be June 22, and stating that if the defendant's story was true he would not like to confine him to jail in default of bond for that length of time, the prosecutor made no objection to Peterson being released on his own recognizance.

She was to have been married to a young man of Butte, and prepara-tions for the wedding had all been tions for the wedding had all been made, when for some unexplained reason Miss Collett stated the event would have to be postponed a day. This announcement was made on her return from shopping with her sister Pearl, in the afternoon, when she seemed to be in excellent spirits. She then went out again presumably to telegraph the expectant bridegroom who was in Helena. She returned and about 9 o'clock in the evening rushed out from her room into the kitchen, stating that she had killed herself and falling heavily on the floor. Medical stating that she had killed herself and falling heavily on the floor. Medical aid was called, but the young woman expired a few hours later. An investigation revealed a half filled bottle of carbolle acid in her room, and it is thought that when she went out presumably, to telegraph to Helena, she purchased the poison. No further explanation for the act is assigned.
